Information

Moving bee colonies to areas that may not consist essentially of organically produced crops, or of spontaneous vegetation or non-organically managed forests or crops that are only treated with low environmental impact methods may be authorised on a temporary basis where the survival of the colony is endangered due to catastrophic circumstances (events other than climatic conditions, such as fires or earthquakes that reduce drastically the availability of nectar and pollen for bees).

Justification

- Nectar and pollen sources are drastically reduced in the areas where the colonies are normally moved.
